Town Crier

Wilmington - Massachusetts

364 MIDDLESEX AVE. Wilmington, Mass.

658-2346

A celebration in times past

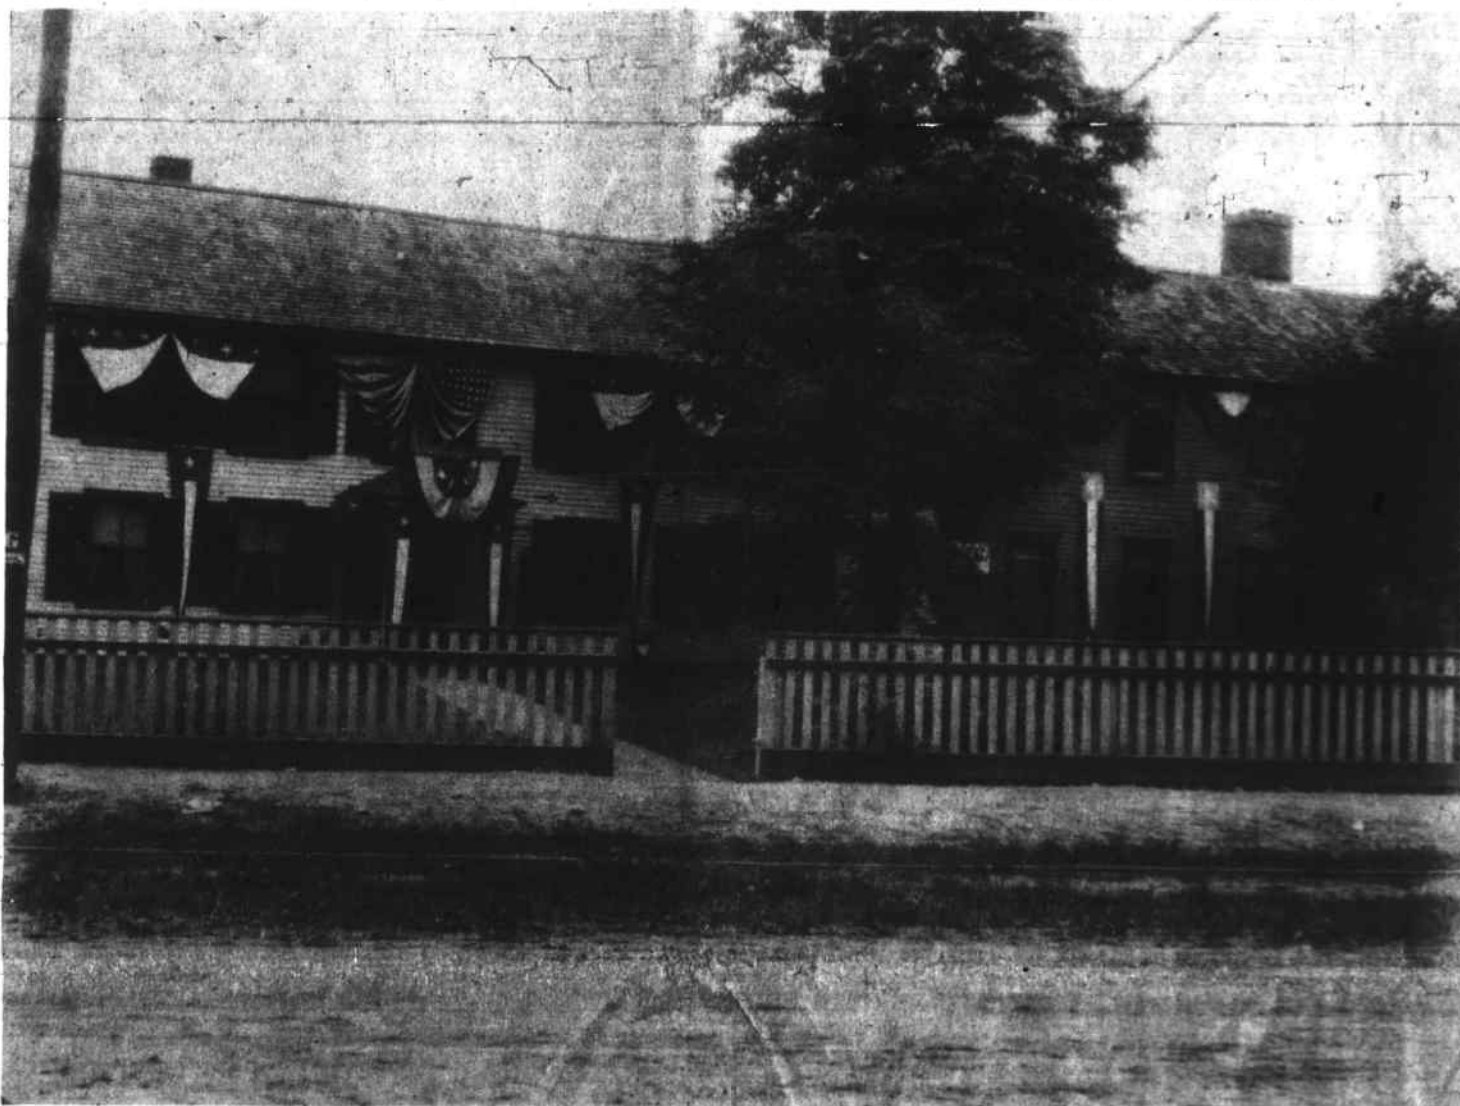

Independence Day at the time of World War I was always a stirring occasion. The town bandstand at that time served as the playing site for members of the Yankee Division Band. Stanley Webber, who once played on the bandstand, recently recounted his memories to the Town Crier.

Nearby stood the house pictured here, the Fred Lowell house, as it was called at that time. It was the home of Wilmington's printer.

The house has since been torn down. It stood approximately where the home of attorney Tim Kane now stands, next to the Wilmington Memorial Library. At the time of the photo, it was next to the old St. Thomas Church.

One hundred years ago it was the property of Michael Carlin, one of the early Irish families in Wilmington. Mr. Carlin later shared ownership with James (Jim) Kelley, Wilmington Town Clerk and Selectman. The history of the building has never been adequately explored.

It was Jim Kelley who gave the land next door to the Archbishop of Boston, on which the old St. Thomas Church was erected, and on which the library stands. It was Jim Kelley who compiled the Births, Marriages and Deaths book, in the Town Clerk's office, still an item of interest to Wilmington citizens. And lastly, it was Jim Kelley, with steel eye glasses perched on his forehead, who used to preside at some of the town meetings held in the Town Hall and who would occasionally make a sarcastic comment on some proposal by a citizen during the meeting.

Decked for the holiday

The Fred Lowell house was draped in festive patriotic bunting when Ed Nelson Eames took this picture. The 48-star flag dates the picture to some time after 1912. Also note the trolley ear tracks in the foreground.

Audit cuts $88,000 in state aid

Bad news for taxpayers arrived at the Wilmington Town Hall on Tuesday. The Massachusetts Department of Corporations and Taxation informed the town that it will not receive $88,000 in state education funds anticipated in the "cherry sheet."

The decrease was due to an audit adjustment for special education funds from 1976.

Under the "cherry sheet," the town would have received $2,132,000. The reduced amount will be $2,043,000.

With the town's annual budget in the area of $15.5 million, the $88,000 loss will mean a difference in the tax rate of about one-half dollar.

Nicki Johnson promoted to assistant treasurer

Mrs. Currie "Nicki" Johnson, branch manager of the Melrose Savings Bank branch on Lowell Street has been promoted to assistant treasurer of the bank. The vote to name her to the post came at the June 21 meeting of the Board of Trustees of the bank.

Mrs. Johnson moved to Wilmington from her native Newport, Vermont in 1956. She was hired by the bank in 1974, was promoted to branch manager in March, 1976, and became a corporator of the bank in January of this year.

She is married to Harry B. Johnson, and is the mother of seven and the grandmother of two.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority and the Wilmington League of Women Voters.

The Wilmington office was the first branch of the Melrose Savings Bank, and was opened in September, 1974. Through its automated banking machine, it is open 24 hours a day.

Town of Wilmington Rubbish Collection Schedule

Due to the Holiday, Monday, July 4, all rubbish collections will be one day late next week.

Not done, but dedicated 'Fourth' celebration centers at gazebo

Wilmington's new gazebo, though not yet completed, nonetheless will be the center of activities for the Fourth of July, 1977.

The gazebo, being constructed on the Common and donated to the town by the Class of 1977 of Wilmington High School, will be the site of some hurried carpentry during the weekend. Chairman David MacMillan (658-3021) has asked members of the Senior Class and any available carpenters to help.

Independence Day activities on Monday will begin with ceremonies at the Veterans Memorial Flagpole on the Common at 11 a.m.

The gazebo dedication ceremony will be held at 2 p.m., followed by entertainment from 7 or 8 bands and other groups. Among those participating will be the Skirts and Flirts squaredancers, the Wilmington Company of Minutemen Fife and Drum Corps, The Andover Townsmen barbershop quartet, the Wilmington High School Band, and pop, rock and country musical groups composed of local teen-aged talent. The entertainment will last through the afternoon.

At sundown, a block dance will be held at the High School tennis courts, opposite the Common. Later in the evening, at 10 o'clock a 201-gun salute will mark the first Independence Day of the country's third century.

Refreshments will be available on the Common all day, and the Sons of Italy will be selling hot dogs and Italian sausages.

Deborah Romanski magna cum laude

Deborah A. Romanski is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Romanski of 5 Wedgewood Ave., Wilmington. In her Wilmington High School days she was one of half a dozen students who made marks for themselves in Student Government - Steve Coursey, Ann London, Martha Rounds, Bill Manning, Greg Coolidge and Beth Higley to name some of them.

Deborah graduated from Wesleyan University on June 12. She received her BA degree in Speech and Economics. In her senior year she was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa. She graduated Magna Cum Laude.

Pat Simmons, came laude

Pat M. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons of 6 Strout Ave., Wilmington is a come laude graduate of Boston College, School of Management, Class of 1977.

While at B.C. Pat was selected as Boston College's representative for the Becker CPA Review and was appointed to a two year accounting position in the college's treasurer's office, while carrying a full academic schedule.

Pat will begin his career with Price Waterhouse & Company, Public Accountants in August.

Stanley Gruber on danger list

A Wilmington man was on the danger list in fair condition in Boston City Hospital Tuesday night after being shot in a robbery.

Stanley Gruber, 22, of Butters Row, Wilmington, a taxi driver for the Independent Taxi Owners Association, picked up three men early Tuesday morning and drove them to a Dorchester destination. There they robbed him of three dollars, and then shot him. He sustained a serious head wound.

Tsongas at library

Congressman Paul Tsongas addressed a small gathering of people at the Wilmington Memorial Library on Saturday morning. Among those present were Jean and Jim Miceli, George Hooper, Laura Briand, and Bob Cain.

Tsongas chooses nuclear over coal

Congressman Paul Tsongas last Saturday reluctantly endorsed the idea of using atomic energy, in the United States. He did so at a "town meeting" in the Wilmington Public Library.

The Congressman is a member of the Ad Hoc Energy Committee in the Congress. He has participated in many hearings relative to energy, and has toured many atomic power plants.

Tsongas told his audience that the day of fuel oil and gas for energy is fast dwindling. By the year 2000, he felt, there would have to be another dependable source of power.

He was reluctantly endorsing atomic energy production in Massachusetts.

"A 1000 Magawatt coal burning electric generator" he said "will spit out 28,000 tons of sulphur bearing compounds in one year." "We will get the greenhouse effect, from carbon dioxide."

This is something which our civilization cannot stand, the Congressman told his audience. He had, he said, come around to the thinking of endorsing atomic energy, but reluctantly.

"At this time, I see no alternative." He favors atomic energy only as a stop-gap of energy until some other source of power, such as solar energy, is practicable.

Card of Thanks

To all those who participated in the planning and in the party itself, my deepest and most sincere thanks.

We all had a wonderful time, and it will never be forgotten.

Miceli to co-chair county advisory board

James R. Miceli, Wilmington selectman and Herbert Odell, Wayland selectman, have been elected co-chairmen of the Middlesex County Advisory Board, effective July 1. They were elected in the annual meeting held June 23 in Waltham City Hall. Miceli is president of the Merrimack Valley Selectmen's Association and Odell is president of the Middlesex County Selectmen. Their election as co-chairmen ensures representation from both the north and south parts of Middlesex County. This is the first time that selectmen have been elected chairmen of the Middlesex Advisory Board. Heretofore Mayors have always served as chairmen. The County Advisory Board exists for the purpose of checking activities of county officials and to promote or comment on legislation affecting Middlesex County.

Of concern in the meeting were two supplementary county levies, which have been received by the municipalities. One is for the Middlesex County Hospital deficit and the other for pay raises and uniforms for Superior Court Officers.

Editorial The bandstand builders

The times have changed, and yet they remain the same. The bunting no longer hangs on the house near the Wilmington Common. The house is no longer there. Neither is the old gazebo, which stood near the point of the common in the early twentieth century.

But there is a spirit which makes one think of earlier times. The Senior Class of Wilmington High School has come up with a marvelous gift for the town. A new gazebo, just in time for the Fourth of July. This is in addition to their having raised a record number of pints of blood in their recent blood drive.

The youngsters have come down with a case of good old civic pride.

They have solicited and received a good deal of help in their endeavor. More than 500 people donated money, and a number of other people donated services. Charlie Cushing supplied the forms for the foundation. Ray Fitzmaurice and Fred Jackson consulted on the plans. Mike Walsh has agreed to provide the wiring, and Steve Lawrenson the roofing. Others who donated services were James Campbell, Joe Langone, Charles Lawrenson, David Orndorff, Doug Parker, Jack Cushing and Jack Baldwin.

David MacMillan and the others on his committee have already achieved the satisfaction of bringing together a large number of people for their project. Once the job is done, they will have yet more satisfaction. And then there will one more item of business: Thanks, Graduates of 1977.

Regarding school vandalism

It recently came to the attention of school authorities that several individuals and/or organizations given permission to use outdoor school facilities have been violating the general rules established by the school department for such use. Numerous complaints have been made that cars, trucks, motorcycles, mopeds and other vehicles are being parked on school property, and that areas are being left littered with paper and glass. Owners of nearby property have complained that similar violations are occurring on private property. These comments are particularly appropriate to the Shawabean Elementary, Woburn Street and North Intermediate School areas.

Due to these conditions, the Wilmington School Committee passed the following motion at its meeting of June 8:

"Moved that the school committee formally notify the public and users, by permit, of school property that all motor vehicles must be confined to parking areas. Use of approved areas and playgrounds by any motor vehicles will not be tolerated. Failure to comply will result in the offenders being denied the use of school property without further notification. Motor vehicles are to be defined as automobiles, trucks, motorcycles, mini-bikes, motorbikes, mopeds, etc."

Hurst named to marketing staff

John A. Hurst, 53 Washington Ave., Wilmington, has been named Marketing Manager for the Northeast Division of the Ritchie Organization (TRO), architects and planners, Chestnut Hill. Mr. Hurst's appointment represents an expansion of the marketing program of TRO, the largest specialty health care architectural/planning firm in the country.

Hurst is covering New England plus Pennsylvania and New Jersey. He is responsible for new business development in these states, including the contacting of administrators of hospitals, nursing homes, extended care facilities, clinics, elderly housing developers, directors of medical education research facilities, medical office building developers, etc., plus government officials involved in the health care delivery system of the various states and regions.

Hurst joined (TRO) in April, 1971. He has been an architectural designer for the firm, as well as project coordinator for such projects as the Montefiore Hospital Medical Office Building, Pittsburgh; Burbank Hospital Parking Areas, Fitchburg; St. Joseph's Hospital outpatient department alterations, Lowell; and renovations to the Lynn Hospital obstetrical department, Lynn. Mr. Hurst is a graduate of Everett High School. He is in his fifth year of the Certificate program at the Boston Architectural

Center. He is a member of the Society for Marketing Professional Services. The Ritchie Organization, established nearly 70 years ago, has been responsible for hundreds of health care facilities projects ranging in size from small community hospitals to major urban medical complexes. TRO has also introduced a number of innovative systems and products for improved patient care. The firm's offices are staffed by over 80 experienced architects, designers, consultants and support personnel. Some of TRO's current projects include: Exeter Hospital, Exeter, N.H.; Lowell General Hospital; West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital, Boston; Burbank Hospital, Fitchburg and St. Joseph's Hospital, Lowell.

New policy on overdue material

The Wilmington Memorial Library Board of Library Trustees has announced a change in policy regarding overdue library material.

As of July 18, 1977, patrons who receive a bill for overdue library material will be charged a $2.00 service charge. Patrons will continue to receive a courtesy reminder of overdue library material free of charge. If patrons respond promptly to the overdue notice by returning overdue library material, no charge will be levied. However, if patrons ignore the reminder first notice and do not return the material by the designated date, they will receive a bill with the $2.00 service charge. Regrettably, borrowing privileges will be suspended on the billing date until material is returned and the service charge is paid.

Patrons are reminded that they are responsible for all material borrowed on their library card which must be presented each time loans are made. A charge will be made for replacement of a lost library card.

Parents (or guardians) who in the past received bills for their children's overdue or damaged library material, will now receive the reminder notice as well. Parents are ultimately responsible for their children's materials, and so both the responsible parent's and the child's borrowing privileges will be temporarily suspended until material is returned or payment made for its replacement.

According to Philip Meriam, Library Director, "We do not want to go back to collecting fines. The whole idea of the service charge is to encourage the prompt return of library material, and to reduce expensive and unnecessary billing. The change in policy is an attempt to further improve library service."

All Star in the boondocks

by Rick Cooke

I was all set to do a wrap-up feature on the Wilmington High School baseball champions this week. But last Tuesday morning I picked up the Boston Globe and flipped to the school sports section fully expecting to see star Wildcat righthander Jim Stewart's name in the group of players that the Globe calls "The Team." "The Team" of All-Scholastic Stars for 1977 does not include Jim Stewart - for reasons that are not clear to me and many other Merrimack Valley Conference baseball fans who watched Jimmy turn in one of the most outstanding seasons - both on the mound and at the plate - in the history of Merrimack Valley baseball play.

Granted you can't please all of the people all of the time when selecting an all-star team. But the Globe has a history of overlooking the players in the Merrimack Valley when it comes to first team selections. What is even more unbelievable is that Stewart didn't even make the first team bench. I'd like to have a reserve like Jim on my bench if I was putting together a quality baseball team. Make no mistake about it - the Globe team is a super club - but anyone who rants and raves over the omission of Wilmington's Stewart from the roster has a highly legitimate gripe.

The following letter was written by school sports fan Hugh Wiberg - and he sums up what I'm sure are the feelings of many area fans who feel a genuine star was overlooked. It is addressed to Globe school sports editor Neil Singelais.

Dear Mr. Singelais:

The Boston Globe, it is generally acknowledged, is the largest, and in many ways the most prestigious newspaper in New England. The prevailing feeling is, not without considerable justification: if the Globe says a particular group of athletes (in this case the All-Scholastic baseball players) are the best around, well sir, you better believe they are!

The writer of this letter, is admittedly, just your common, ordinary, garden variety school sports fan. (Pro sports have long since turned me off, since the "business" considerations of professional sports now far outweigh the athletic aspects). Thus, in matters relating to schoolboy sports, I defer to the fact that you are a professional in this area, as school sports editor for the Globe. You have access, I'm certain, to considerably more information relative to the recently concluded baseball season than I (and other fans) do. May I ask you two simple questions? And, to make it more convenient for you to respond (assuming you shall extend me this courtesy) I am enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

Question No. 1: How can it be that, with two teams having done rather well in the E. Mass. Tournament, (Wilmington and Methuen) there is not a single representative from the Merrimack Conference on the Globe's first and "bench" All-Scholastic teams?

Question No. 2: How could Wilmington's Jim Stewart and Methuen's Frank Riley be passed over, when the first team and back up pitchers were selected?

Undoubtedly you have access to the following data on Stewart: May I review several points with you:

(a) Stewart's regular season record was 10 plus 1.

(b) His overall record was 13 plus 1, with three tournament wins.

(c) Stewart's E.R.A. was under 1.00, having allowed 13 runs in 14 games.

(d) Pitching for a small division II school, Stewart compiled most of his record against division I schools, including Andover, Billerica, Chelmsford, Tewksbury and Methuen.

(e) In his last start of the season, Stewart "no hit" Tewksbury.

(f) Stewart, the winningest pitcher in Eastern (if not all) Mass., started 14 games and completed every one of them.

I concede that statistics do not tell the whole story, and that is the point of this letter. I only have access to the stats, and you, surely, are aware of the other considerations which go into the final selections.

Please then, Mr. Singelais, answer these two questions for me, and for one or two other confused fans up here in the boondocks north of Boston.

Respectfully,
Hugh Wiberg

Redmen squeak by Wildcats

Tewksbury High School's entry in the Tewksbury Summer Basketball League chalked up its first win of the warm season last Sunday night with a 68 - 67 squeaker over the Wilmington Wildcats. The two teams battled to a 26 - 26 stand-off at halftime before the Wildcats took a 47 - 44 third period lead on the hot shooting of Steve Woods and Randy Foster.

Tewksbury ripped off a 24 - 20 edge in the final period to pull out the game and up their record to 1 - 4. The Redmen attack was led by Tom Saunders with 21 points and forward Ray Tremlett with 22 markers.

The tough luck Cats were paced by Steve Woods with 19, Dowd with 18, and Foster who finished with 15 points. The loss dropped the Wilmington summer league record to 0 - 5.

In other games Sunday night first place Chelmsford dumped North Reading 64 - 59 behind the hot hands of Thompson and Chadwick. Estes was the North Reading High man with 26 points.

Lowell stayed on the Chelmsford tails with a 85 - 43 romp over Greater Lowell. Torris (14), Courtney (12), Janoski (10) and Mitchell (10) paced the well-balanced Lowell attack. Ramos was the Greater Lowell offense with 19 points.

Northeast entry in second place

The Northeast League baseball entry posted wins in all seven of its outings last week to move into second place in the Northern Division of the league.

Tue. June 21...The Recs unleashed an 11 hit attack against Concord to earn a 6 - 4 triumph over the Falcons. Dave Sousa (1-1) pitched five hit ball over six frames to balance his ledger.

Dave was in command throughout the game. The Wilmington attack featured a triple and single by Bill Blaisdell and three for four by Rich Scanlon. RBI producers were Steve Woods and Art Sugrue with two each and Tod Richards and Scanlon.

Wed. June 22...The Recs road show continued as Coach Scanlon's nine trounced Westford, 14 - 3 with five players bashing hits. Art Sugrue knocked in three runs while Bob Woods, John Smith and Chris Nolan drove home two each. Bill Liston (1-0) notched his first seasonal win, striking out five while not issuing a walk.

Thur. June 23...In their home debut, the Recs blasted Andover 13 - 3 for their fourth straight victory. The Recs pounded out 13 hits including a homer, double and four rbi's by Bob Woods. Woods' round tripper was a towering three-run shot over the left field fence in the first inning. Art Sugrue, Bill Blaisdell, Rich Scanlon and Rich Medeiros chipped in with two hits each. Medeiros (1-0) pitched six strong innings before giving way to Bob Woods in the final inning.

Fri. June 24...In a battle for second place in the Northern Division, the Recs defeated Lowell, 6 - 4 behind the five hit pitching of Dave Sousa (2-1). The Wilmington nine trailed 4 - 3 entering the seventh inning, when the roof caved in on Lowell. Rich Scanlon struck out swinging, but reached first on a passed ball. Sousa doubled, scoring Scanlon with the tying run. Steve Woods walked, Art Sugrue singled and Todd Richards singled to score Woods. Another passed ball brought Sugrue home as the Recs win streak reached five.

Sun., June 26...In the opening game of a non-divisional twin bill with Wakefield, Bob Woods tossed a five-hitter to pace the Recs to a 3 - 1 triumph. Woods (2-0) walked three and whiffed eight in a strong effort.

The Recs came from behind to nip the Townies in the nitecap, 6 - 5. Bill Liston and Rich Medeiros shared the pitching chores with Medeiros (2-0) picking up the win when the Recs pushed across a pair of runs in the last of the seventh. Art Sugrue and Bob Woods walked and Dave Sousa slammed a triple to right field to extend the Recs unbeaten streak to seven.

The team played exceptionally good baseball in the doubleheader, picking off three Wakefield runners, and turning over three double plays.

The Sluggers won all three of their outings last week to move into undisputed possession of first place in the in-town league. On Tuesday, June 21 the Sluggers topped the Scoopers, 14 - 12 and the Rebels slipped past the Brewers, 19 - 18. Friday night, the Scoopers shut out the Rebels, 14 - 0 behind the three-hit pitching of Susan Rowe. In the nitecap, the Sluggers ousted the Brewers, 11 - 9.

Sat. June 25...In the opening games at the one-pitch league, John T's overpowered K of C, 16 - 5; the Elites' belted Graphic Arts, 19 - 5 and Super Stars unlimbed bested the Recs, 17 - 9.

Pony League Highlights

Braves slug Wildcats 16-3

The North Reading Braves scored 16 runs in the first two innings last Saturday enroute to a 16 - 3 pounding of the Wildcats. The Cats committed six errors in those two nightmarish innings as the North Reading club put the game away and coasted to the win.

The Wildcat bright spot was 13-year-old Jeff Evans who pitched two-hit shutout relief ball over the last five innings. Jeff was touched for two runs when he came on in relief of Dave Woods, but after the early Brave barrage Evans settled down nicely to prevent an astronomical score.

Tim McCann was the starting Wildcat pitcher. He had a rough go of it as he allowed seven runs on four hits before being relieved by Woods who chucked one-third of a frame - allowing seven runs on just one North Reading hit. Evans came on to hurl the last five and two-thirds innings.

G. Hastings led the Wildcat bat attack with two hits and a pair of RBI's. Neil Wetzler went two for four while Woods slapped out a pair of safeties.

The attack was rounded out by a B. Walley double and a single by McCann.

Wednesday, June 22...The Wildcats battled the Reading Astros to an 8 - 8 tie to gain one point in the Pony League standings. The solid hitting Reading bunch jumped out to an 8 - 3 lead after five innings, but Cat hurler Neil Wetzler found the groove as his teammates fought back to knot the score with three runs in the sixth inning and two more in the seventh frame.

The game was called because of darkness - giving the Cats the comeback tie on a big point in the league race for the top. Wilmington had their track shoes on as Dave Woods stole two bases and G. Hastings swiped three sacks.

Woods also contributed a pair of hits while Hastings chipped in with a single. Walley banged a run scoring triple in the seventh inning to cut the Astro lead to one - and S. Mosher followed with a single to drive home Walley with the tying run.

Other Wilmington stick stars included M. Hurley and Wetzler with a single apiece. Wetzler went the full seven innings on the mound - allowing eight runs on seven hits.

He walked six and struck out four Astros.
